The Biblical Account of the Garden of Eden

The Garden of Eden is primarily described in the Book of Genesis, chapters 2 and 3. According to the biblical narrative, God created the garden as a lush paradise where the first humans, Adam and Eve, could live. The text details various aspects of the garden, including its location, flora, and fauna. It is said to be situated at the convergence of four rivers: Pishon, Gihon, Tigris, and Euphrates, which has led to numerous geographic speculations over the centuries.

The Creation of the Garden

The creation of the Garden of Eden reflects the biblical theme of divine provision. In Genesis 2:8-9, it states: "And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he
